We're Not In Kansas Anymore —Or Are We?

By Melissa M. De Meo

Charles and Alverna Malcom were in town this week, but it's almost like they never left home.

The Malcoms are from Andover, Kan., named not for Andover, England, but for the town in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Malcom, who is a member of her hometown's image enhancement committee, wanted to see what the Massachusetts namesake was like.

She says Andover, Kan., used to be Cloud City, after a man named by historical records only as Mr. Cloud. Mr. Cloud was an engineer who helped build a line through Andover, Kan., to the state's capital Wichita,

Andover's Bond Rating May Rise To Top Despite State's Economic Woes

By Frank Messina

As the saying goes, a state's worth is its bond, which in Massachusetts these days, is not saying a mouthful.

But as the Bay State's financial fortunes continued to plummet last week with the news that its bond rating dropped two places, Andover is poised to join a select few state municipalities that have gained Aaa ratings—Moody's Investor Service's highest ranking.

Nationwide, less than 5 percent of all municipalities are granted Aaa status by Moody's, which provides a service that grades the investment quality of bonds sold by counties, municipalities and other public institutions.

In addition to attracting better interest rates on town bonds "there's certainly a lot of prestige" in an Aaa ranking, said town Financial Director Tony Torrisi.

Town administrators have been working for an Aaa rating several years now, and Andover finally looks to be a position to win the prize.

When Andover applied for a $3 million bond issue last year, Moody's did a detailed analysis of the town's finances. Although they didn't change the town's current Aa rating, Moody's wrote a glowing credit report in July, 1988, that meets much Aaa criteria.

"The continued expansion of Andover's affluent residential base and high-technology industrial sectors combines with sound financial operations to provide strong protection for its low debt," the report reads.

"Sustained growth in taxable valuation mitigates the adverse effects of Proposition 2½. Well-managed financial operations depend heavily on property taxes as the leading revenue source, and tax collections have been prompt."

But despite the laurels, Mr. Torrisi says the state's current financial situation clouds the town's chances of being re-evaluated by Moody's.

The troubles started with Proposition 2½. No municipality in Massachusetts has been granted a Aaa rating since the tax reform initiative passed, said Mr. Torrisi.

The current state budget shortfall and massive state borrowing to plug the gaps created by plummeting revenues led to Massachusetts losing two notches in its credit rating, placing it next to last among 41 states.

"Any time anything negative like this happens, it doesn't help," said Mr. Torrisi.

As shown by the small number of municipalities rated Aaa, the bond rating isn't easy to reach at any time. And while many factors decide who earns the top ranking, there's no clear-cut path to that level.

"It's not like if you lose 20 pounds, it's guaranteed you'll have a 32 inch waist," said Mr. Torrisi. "There's no magic answer."

But still, local bonds are mostly affected by the town's own performance. Andover, said Mr. Torrisi, has done well in several areas, including high property tax base; low existing bond debt; payback of past debt; budget growth; local economy; and low unemployment levels.

Achieving Aaa "would be like winning the medal of honor," said Mr. Torrisi.

This Week — "Summer Dining Guide"

Assumes State Library Post

Andover resident Anne M. O'Brien, director of the Pollard Memorial Library in Lowell, has been elected president of the 1,200-member Massachusetts Library Association.

Her top priority will be to combat state and local funding cuts for libraries in the Commonwealth. Continued lobbying and strong public relations efforts by librarians are two approaches to the funding problem, says Ms. O'Brien, who was very active in 1987 in the passage of the Public Library Improvement Bill passed by the Legislature.

The membership of the Massachusetts Library Association is drawn from professional librarians across the state, working in all types of libraries. The organization sponsors efforts in legislative lobbying, media relations and intellectual freedom. Ms. O'Brien also places a high priority on efforts to boost the image of libraries and librarians across the state. "Libraries are important repositories of information in an age where there is a real explosion of information and in the technology that transmits it. People need more information just to function in our complex society—libraries are where they can get the information and librarians are the professionals that can help them access it."

Ms. O'Brien was assistant director at Memorial Hall Library in Andover before becoming director of Pollard Memorial Library in 1984. Her prior experience includes work in school libraries in Woburn and Fulton County, GA. She holds degrees from Brown University and the University of Rhode Island and has served for the past two years as vice president of the Massachusetts Library Association.

Scholarships

Two Andover residents were recipients of 4-H scholarships awarded to graduating seniors based on leadership and achievement in the 4-H program. Each recipient receives a $500 scholarship sponsored by the Essex County 4-H Foundation.

Andover award winners included Bobbie (Bernadette) Donovan and Bethany Genier.

Ms. Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Donovan is a graduate of St. Louis Academy and will be attending Merrimack College in the fall in the school of arts and sciences.

Ms. Genier is the daughter of Robert and Cynthia Genier. A graduate of Merrimack College, she will be attending Wheaton College in the fall majoring in English.

On Dean's List

Amy Elizabeth Williams of Andover has been placed on the Dean's List for the spring semester at Liberty University in Lynchburg, Virginia. She is the daughter of Kenneth and Susan Williams.

Anne M. O'Brien

On Dean's List

Anne E. James, daughter of David and Marianne James, 5 Hartford Circle, Andover, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of New Hampshire, Durham, N.H. for the spring semester.

Planners Elect Officers

The Planning Board elected new officers Tuesday night, appointing Susan Stott as the new board chairman.

Mrs. Stott will replace Russ Moran as chairman. Carl Byers will be vice chairman, and John O'Brien will take over duties as board secretary.

Tuesday night also marked the last meeting for Michael Houghton, who served on the board for six years. Town Manager Kenneth Mahony has not yet decided on a replacement.

Grandparents To Head Back To Kindergarten In The Fall

Come this fall, some Andover kindergarten students may be going to school with their grandparents.

The School Committee voted last week to authorize a new foster grandparent pilot program in Shawsheen School. The program is stylized after a federally funded program currently in place in Lowell. But, unlike Lowell, the Andover program will be staffed with volunteers.

Candy Bachner, a teacher at Shawsheen, who investigated the program through a Horace Mann grant, designed to connect the education system with the community, said there are advantages for everyone involved.

Grandparents and children will benefit from the nurturing and bonding they develop and teachers could use the extra help in the classroom. Recruiting efforts will begin later this summer, and the foster grandparents chosen will spend some time in Lowell reviewing the workings of that city's program.

Ms. Bachner says the program should be implemented in October.

League's Calendar Available

A 16-month academic calendar conveniently sized for pocket or purse is available at the Andover Bookstore, Thompson's Office Products and Memorial Hall Library.

A fund-raiser for the League of Women Voters of Andover, this monthly calendar-planner runs from September 1989 through December 1990 with ample space to jot in daily appointments. It has information on voter registration, absentee ballots and elections and lists the Massachusetts congressional delegation, state senators and representatives with office addresses and phone numbers.

A copy of the Andover public school calendar, with the early release day schedule for the coming school year, appears on the last page. The calendar includes the dates for town elections and town meeting and a 1991 calendar with a list of holidays on the inside back cover.

Collins Committee To Meet

The J. Everett Collins Center Committee, recently appointed by the School Committee to review a proposal from the Andover Endowment of the Arts, will have its first meeting Wednesday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting, which will be held in the School Committee room on the second floor of the school administration building, is open to the public.

Streets Blocked For Parade

The annual Fourth of July Horribles Parade will form Tuesday at 9 a.m. at the corner of Bartlet Street and Punchard Avenue and will step off promptly at 9:30 a.m.

The following streets will be blocked off to accommodate the parade route: Punchard Avenue, Main Street from Punchard Avenue to Park Street; Park Street to Bartlet Street and Bartlet Street to the Park.

Selectmen To Meet July 10

The next meeting of the Board of Selectmen will be Monday, July 10.

Teens Sentenced To 10 Years For Andover Savings Robbery

By Frank Messina

Living their fantasies by robbing an Andover bank will cost two area teenagers from one to 10 years of their young lives in state prison, an Essex County judge ruled last week.

Instead of living in Cancun, Mexico, Michael Costello, 18, and John T. Robillard, 17, were sentenced to 10 years in Concord State Prison by Judge Charles Grabau for robbing the Andover Savings Bank at gunpoint last January.

Both will be eligible for parole in one year, said Essex Assistant District Attorney Joseph Green.

"This was a tragic situation for all involved," said Mr. Green, "the tellers at the bank, the kids and their families, who are devastated by this."

Since Jan. 27, the day the two masked youths walked into the Andover Savings Bank armed with a sawed-off rifle, authorities have been puzzled over their motives.

Both Methuen residents, Mr. Robillard was an honors student at Central Catholic and Mr. Costello was well-liked at Methuen High School with no history of drug abuse or other problems.

"I find it a totally inexplicable thing," said Mr. Green. "I guess it was some type of fantasy. That was the only thing the court psychologist could get out of them is that it was a fantasy."

The sentence was the result of plea-bargaining between Mr. Green and defense attorneys.

Judge Grabau handed both teenagers concurrent sentences of 10 years each on two counts of armed robbery while masked and five years for one charge of using a handgun during a robbery.

The firearms charge carries a one-year mandatory prison term, after which the two will be eligible for a parole hearing.

"They had to do the one year," said Green. "Even though neither one had a criminal record."

Mr. Costello and Mr. Robillard were apprehended by Andover police attempting to board a flight to Cancun. Less than 24 hours earlier, they had stolen $4,000 from Andover Savings and fled the scene in a borrowed car.

Almost immediately, their plans began to fall apart when Andover police found the abandoned car less than a mile from the bank. Although the license plates had been removed, Methuen detectives were able to trace the owners through vehicle identification numbers marked on the car.

The trail led quickly to Mr. Costello and Mr. Robillard, who had driven another vehicle to an airport area hotel where they spent the night. Alerted to their plans to leave the country by a friend of the youths, Andover police set up a dragnet at Logan Airport. Both were arrested without a struggle.

"The whole caper was ridiculous," said Green. "I don't know how they thought they were going to live in Mexico on $4,000."

A Very Short History of A Very American Town

By Thomas McKenna

Andover, incorporated in 1646, was perhaps named after Andover, England, and has evidence of inhabitants as early as 7000 B.C. We were originally Cochichewick (Great Cascade) and included North Andover, which was purchased from the natives for six pounds and a coat. By 1709, the area was divided into North Andover, the former center near the burying grounds, and our present town which included West Andover, Shawsheen, earlier called Frye Village, Ballardvale and South Lawrence.

The Ice Age left Haggett's, Foster's and Poms ponds. The Merrimack River is on our northern border and its tributary, the Shawsheen, runs north to south through our middle.

With a population of 28,000, Andover is 23 miles north of Boston and 32 square miles in Essex County. Route 28 is along our midsection, Routes 93 and 495 at our edge and 128, a few miles off. We are bordered by North Andover, North Reading, Wilmington, Tewksbury, Dracut, Methuen and Lawrence.

Our town became identified as the Hill (Phillips Academy), the Mill (mills aside the Shawsheen River) and the Till (there were 75 large farms at the peak).

Founding families were fervent Puritans whose initial Congregational Church was erected in 1645. The first recorded town meeting was in 1656. Simon Bradstreet became the colonial governor and his wife was the first colonial poetess.

The settlers skirmished with the natives, Algonquins of the Pennacook Confederacy, and gained the advantage, learning how to protect themselves, adding to their numbers by European arrivals and witnessing a plague that reduced the natives from 100,000 to 5,000.

There were the King Phillips Wars, named after a native who mobilized against the settlers throughout New England around 1679, and witch hysteria, three of them eventually paid the supreme price.

In 1647, Massachusetts legislated that towns of 50 families should have a school master and those of 100 families should have a grammar school. It was believed that in earlier years our town had ministers to prepare the ambitious for college and dames' schools to instruct younger children.

Phillips Academy was founded in 1778 by Samuel Phillips, a Harvard graduate (his brother founded Phillips Academy in Exeter, N.H.). By 1807 the Andover Theological Seminary was begun on academy property and later moved to Harvard University. When Abbot Academy for Girls was opened on School Street in 1829, Andover became known as a national leader in education. The two academies merged by 1973.

Benjamin Punchard left $50,000 in 1850 for a public, free secondary school, subsequently called Punchard High. It was housed in 1957 in what subsequently became West Junior High and, in 1988, West Middle School.

In the Civil War, 600 townsmen served and 53 gave their lives. Many folks were anti-slavery and some assisted with the Underground Railroad.

In the Revolutionary War, 95 men from town left for Lexington, arriving late; however, they did fight at Bunker Hill. Colonel Osgood stored many of Harvard University's books and their valuables in his Andover home during that period.

Today, Andover, a metro-suburb, has streets that recall its early heritage: Abbot, Ballard, Barnard, Chandler, Foster, Frye, Holt, Osgood, Poor, Stevens.

Among those who helped shape our national culture were Oliver Wendell Holmes and Samuel B. Morse, P.A. graduates; Harriet Beecher Stowe, wife of a P.A. professor and author of Uncle Tom's Cabin; and Samuel Francis Smith, who composed "America" when an Andover Theological Seminary student.

Notable landmarks are the Andover Historical Society, Addison Gallery of American Art, Robert Peabody Archaeological Museum, Merrimack Textile Museum and many historical as well as contemporary structures, including the Bancroft Elementary School.

Ours is a very American town.

Thomas McKenna is a guidance counselor at Andover High School.

Rep. Susan Tucker and Selectman Gail Ralston get ready to pick some of the 15 winners of the Penguin Park raffle Saturday. Between them are Andrea Lederline and Roberta Goldschneider, who are helping the effort to build a playground for Andover preschoolers.

Raffle Winners Selected

A highlight of the Andover Bazaar Days last weekend was the drawing of the winners in the Penguin Park raffle on Saturday. Selectman Gail Ralston, State Rep. Susan Tucker, Andover architect John Dugger and Jim Bamford, superintendent of parks and grounds maintenance, assisted in the drawing of the names of 15 winners.

Carolyn Spina of Cross Street was the winner of the $200 cash grand prize. Other local winners included Andy Bourland of High Street, Bonnie Spurr of Lucerne Drive, Phyllis Beinhart of Hidden Road, Rebecca Carns of Nicholas Circle, Eileen Chalifoux of Chester Street, the Eichman family of Andover Street, D.K. Moskal of Shawsheen Road, the Slovin family of Windemere Drive and the Monics family of Orchard Crossing.

The raffle, co-sponsored by the Shawsheen Extended Day Care Inc., helped raise funds for Penguin Park, the proposed community playground designed specifically for children from infancy to 6 years of age to be located on Iceland Road near the intersection of Route 133 and Main Street. Organizers hope the $30,000 fund-raising goal for construction of the playground will be met this year and the playground will be completed next spring.

The Penguin Park steering committee is planning additional fund-raising activities for the summer and fall, including a live auction, a "Pennies from Heaven" party to collect penny donations and a second children's concert. Volunteers are needed to help with these events. For further information, call Peggy Coleman or Lois Karfunkel of Andover.

Y Offers Back Program

The Merrimack Valley YMCA Andover/North Andover Branch will begin a new session of the Y's Way to a Healthy Back, designed for people who suffer from low back discomfort, July 3.

Suzanne Harte, adult program director and certified instructor, will lead the six-week program which will meet Monday and Wednesday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Studies indicate 80 percent of back discomfort is attributed to a combination of muscle weakness, stress and tension. YMCAs across the country are using this program with an 80 percent success rate. For further information, contact the YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Architect Chosen For Center

Leasing activity at the Riverbend Business Center has been brisk, with leases now signed for 60 percent of the building's 51,000 square feet of professional office space.

Developer Chris Quincy of Quincy & Company, Boston, credited architect Sullivan Design Group, Inc., of Braintree for the building's flexible design, which has helped the developer meet the demand for small-to-medium-sized professional office space.

The two-story brick building includes several design features aimed at attracting firms in need of a first-class image. Joseph Sullivan, spokesman for the architectural firm, pointed to the building's rounded corners as one element adding visual interest.

Jim Sullivan, principal and founder of the 23-year-old firm, explained, "The rounded corners lent a special quality to the space and facilitated the creation of 16 corner offices with floor-to-ceiling glass. Corner suites are always a boon to leasing efforts."

While the building could accommodate larger tenants, it can be broken down into offices as small as 1,500 to 2,000 square feet. It has a two-story, full glassed atrium lobby and what the architects describe as "a grand, elliptical staircase and a neo-classical look."

The flooring combines two-tone carpeting and composite stone with a marble finish. According to the developer, the building's attractiveness and location just off route 93 are appealing to high-end professional service firms. "Our tenants are basically Fortune 500 companies or considered to be in the top 100 growth service firms or higher end sales. Sullivan Design Group did a nice job. They designed a beautiful building that appeals to and accommodates large and small tenants alike."

Sullivan Design Group also provided space planning services to all tenants.

Over the past three years, the Braintree firm has designed more than 200,000 square feet for Quincy & Company. "We keep going back to Sullivan Design Group because of their keen design eye and their understanding of the marketplace," Mr. Quincy added.

The other projects include an office building in Waltham and space for warehouse, multi-purpose, office and research and development uses.

The Riverbend Business Center will eventually include a second building next to the Marriott Hotel and Courtyard Hotel. According to Mr. Quincy, it will be a 100,000-square-foot building. "We'll market it to smaller tenants and include some of the same design elements that distinguish the first building. We anticipate that as tenants now in the first building grow in size, they may wish to relocate into the larger complex."

According to Quincy, having Andover as a business address is also becoming prestigious.

The current tenants are enjoying "Riverbend's park-like setting," he said and are using the services of the Marriott for conferences, luncheons and client lodging.

Honors

Karen Morrison of Andover was the recipient of the Silver Award of the Clover, during the Essex County 4-H leaders recognition banquet held at Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute recently. The award is presented for five years of service.

EARTHFOOD NEWS

by Glenda Mekertich

BABY STEPS

Women who are thinking of becoming pregnant should embark on a sensible course of vitamin and mineral supplementation. This advice comes on the heels of a study of more than 3,000 births by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta. The research reveals that women who took multivitamins during the three months before and after conception decreased their chances of bearing a child with neural-tube defects by 50 percent. Such defects include spina bifida and other defects of the brain and spinal cord. They are found to happen during about the fourth week of gestation. It is important to note that the study encourages sensible vitamin supplementation among mothers-to-be. Engaging in megavitamin therapy can give rise to vitamin levels in the body which can cause birth defects of their own.

The time to start taking care of yourself is long before your baby's born. If you make good health a habit before you become pregnant, it will be easier to stick to your obstetrician's orders for diet, rest, and exercise. Visit THE EARTHFOOD STORE, 24 Park Street behind "old" town hall. Make us your alternative grocery store. We have delicious natural foods for your whole family. Fresh salads, sandwiches, and baked goods are available. Call 475-1234. There's plenty of parking.

P.S. One out of every thousand babies born in the U.S. has a neural-tube defect.

West Students Tell Montana Counterparts About Andover

By Lisa A. Boudreau

A group of fourth-graders at West Elementary School had a chance to dabble in a little film-making this spring. They also learned more about the Western United States and made new friends in the process.

Linda Look's language arts students participated in a pen pal program in which they exchanged letters and post cards with their counterparts in Kalispell, Mont. As part of the exchange, the students, along with the help of Joan Robinson, West's librarian and media expert, filmed a video presentation about life in Andover. They sent the film to their new-found friends in Kalispell as a surprise.

The exchange grew out Ms. Look's desire to find a new and interesting way for her students to practice diverse methods of exchanging ideas and information.

"This gave the students a chance to utilize their writing skills and learn about different ways of communicating," said Ms. Look.

In order for her students to share information about Andover, they first had to learn more about their own hometown. The student's search for facts about Andover led them through a hunt for information about Andover's past and present.

"There is very little information available about Andover at a fourth-grade level. The students really had to work hard to get their information," said Ms. Robinson.

"The best part was seeing what it looked like when it was all done."

Stephanie Banos, West fourth-grader

The video consisted of four parts: the town, its history, its schools and recreation and sports. The class was broken down into four groups that each contributed to the script, visual concepts and direction of the filming and overall production. Most of the students had never been in front of a camera before, but they were naturals, Ms. Robinson said.

"The best part was seeing what it looked like when it was all done," said fourth-grader Stephanie Banos.

Once the film was completed and the teachers began making arrangements to mail it to Kalispell, they received a surprise of their own. A call to Montana revealed the Kalispell students would be finished with school for the summer in two days. Ms. Look and Ms. Robinson did some quick dialing on the phone and contacted a next-day postal service.

Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night kept those couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds. The video arrived in time for the Montana students to see it before they left for vacation.

Holocaust Survivor Addresses Students

By Richard Evans

During the last week of classes, freshmen students at Andover High School were given the rare opportunity of listening to a description of the death camps in Germany, as told by one of the survivors.

The social studies program at the high school devotes the fourth quarter of the year to studies and readings related to the Holocaust. Social studies teacher Louis Eiserman invited Professor Alexander Scharf of Lexington to address the ninth-grade class of 300 students at the J. Everett Collins Center.

Professor Scharf has lectured widely on his personal experiences at labor camps such as Mathausen and Melk to groups of high school and college students. He began his talk by saying he was not there to entertain the students; the experiences he suffered and the scenes eyewitnessed were so painful that for 30 years he was not able to discuss them with anyone.

The students sat silently for more than 90 minutes while Professor Scharf relived some of his own personal experiences—the confinement in a ghetto, transportation by freight cars to a death camp, the realization of his parents' doomed fate.

Professor Scharf paused frequently to maintain control while recounting the intense abuse and physical degradation he had seen and endured.

The question-and-answer period that followed was at first accompanied by a protracted silence as students tried to absorb the impact of his address. Then one hand and another appeared and soon there was a volley of questions.

"Did you believe in God then and do you now?" one student asked. Other students asked whether he wanted revenge, who did he feel was to blame for the Holocaust, did he ever encounter a German soldier who showed some compassion?

The students discussed the presentation in the classrooms. "Nothing we read or saw on film could quite compare to the experience of listening to an actual eyewitness of the events," said one ninth-grader.

Many students commented that having such a speaker made the historical events seem somehow more real. "It is not like reading about some person in a book. Here you are hearing about it firsthand," one said. "Listening to him speak, I couldn't help but think how hard it must be to talk about this to an audience of strangers.

"While listening to Professor Scharf, it dawned on me that the concentration camps were far worse than anything I had imagined. Professor Scharf helped us not only to see the Holocaust, but in some small way to feel it."

According to Mr. Eiserman, part of the philosophy of the ninth-grade social studies curriculum is "to investigate the abuse of power by organized governments and to identify the role and responsibilities of individuals within society.

"Professor Scharf certainly helped dramatize the importance of citizen involvement, and I think his address will have a lasting impact on all those students who heard him," he said.

Mr. Evans is on the high school's English faculty.

Moving our corporate offices to Andover was a major change for Marshalls—a change we welcome.

Since our founding in 1956, we've grown from one small store in Beverly, Massachusetts, to a national company with 320 locations spanning forty states. While Marshalls' stores extend from coast-to-coast, our roots have always been firmly planted here in New England.

Thus, our new Brickstone Square location represents an investment in the future of both the community and our company. Here, we're able to bring our entire corporate family together in one place. We can offer our people amenities like on-site day care and health club facilities, affordable housing, and a convenient location. Most of all, we can share in Andover's traditional New England atmosphere, reflecting the very same spirit that made Marshalls America's #1 off price fashion retailer.

We're proud to be joining the Andover community, and we're dedicated to preserving the special qualities that make the town so attractive to residents and businesses alike. Our hope, and our expectation, is that Marshalls can give back to Andover as much as Andover has given to us.

Volunteers Honored For Service

The first year of Andover High School's community service program went beyond its organizers' expectations, said coordinator Bob King. Mr. King, who also teaches science at the high school, said six agencies were originally selected, but by the end of the year students were working with at least 10 agencies, and a few were participating in special assignments, like a church youth group trip to Mexico to help at an orphanage.

By the year's end, 56 students had qualified for the community service honor roll.

Here are the students and where they volunteered their time: Kristin Adams, Boys' Club; Catherine Allard, Mexican orphanage; Michael Barrett, orphanage; Natalie Belkin, Windrush Farms; Nicole Belle Isle, YMCA and Challenged Youth, an after-school program for disabled youngsters; Kyle Blais, Bread and Roses soup kitchen; Chandra Brown, hospital; Amy Climo, Boys' Club; Stephanie Couture, orphanage; Monica Davis, Big Sister program and Senior Center; Phillip Dehne, Bancroft Elementary School; Michelle Diamondis, Bread and Roses; Catherine Doherty, Big Sister; Tricia Doyle, hospital; Jutta Duborg, Boys' Club; Peggy Dugal, orphanage; Kerri Ann Flaherty, Windrush Farms; Betsy Frankenberg, hospital; Kevin Friel, orphanage; John Gemmell, orphanage; Takisha Galaor, hospital; Chad Gomes, Bread and Roses; Tim Grogean, hospital; Alison Gully, St. Augustine's; Amy Habeeb, orphanage; Sarah Halleran, YMCA; Amy Heislein, orphanage;

Christopher Klein, Bread and Roses; Lisa Lardner, orphanage; Tracy Lee, hospital, YMCA and orphanage; Nathalie LeMaitre, hospital; Brendan McAllister, orphanage; Simone McBean, hospital; Corey McGinley, Big Sister; Caryn Mercandetti, Senior Center; Amy Morrissey, orphanage; Bridget Murphy, orphanage; Tricia Novelline, orphanage; Elaine O'Brien, hospital and orphanage; Grace Park, Bread and Roses;

Karyn Ragonese, orphanage; Beth Robinson, West Elementary; Joanne Rodriguez, Boys' Club and hospital; Maria Sanchez, orphanage; Scott Spatola, Bread and Roses; Christine Spignesi, West Elementary and Challenged Youth; Beth Streeter, St. Augustine's; Wendy Su, Boys' Club; Kristen Sullivan, orphanage; Tara Sullivan, orphanage; Amy Taylor, orphanage; John Teichert, orphanage; Heidi Tobias, orphanage; Sarah Walker, hospital; Tassie Walsh, special assignment; and Steven Wrigley, orphanage.

To improve the program, Mr. King and co-coordinator Jay Darrin asked students to serve on a board of directors for next year. "The response, again, was outstanding," Mr. King said. "Most of this year's participants were eager to share the wealth of their spirits."

Next year's community service board will include soon-to-be seniors Nicole Belle Isle, Michelle Diamondis, Cate Doherty, Takisha Galaor, Chad Gomes and Amy Morrissey; junior Kyle Blais; and sophomores Tim Grogean, Nathalie LeMaitre and Tassie Walsh.

Singers Entertain Preschoolers

More than 200 preschoolers and their parents were rocking and rolling at the recent Penguin Park children's concert held at Temple Emanuel of Andover.

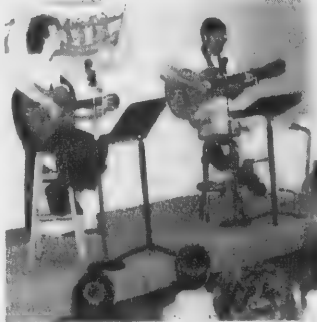

Folk singer Sandi Yellenberg and temple cantor Donn Rosensweig sang songs about the everyday events that fill a preschooler's life, from sharing special toys to a lunch of peanut butter and jam to brushing their teeth to ending a busy day by going to bed.

The children sang the traditional "Old McDonald had a Farm" as the cantor brought supersized stuffed animals, donated for the event by Courtney's, Main Street Kids, Hear Say and Memorial Hall Library, on stage.

The concert ended with a song about the penguin who has a park and how everybody came to eat penguin food and play penguin games. After the songs, all went outdoors for ice cream and some "shaking out the sillies."

The concert helped raise funds for Penguin Park, the proposed community playground designed especially for children from infancy to 6 years old. The Penguin Park steering committee is planning other fund-raising efforts to raise the needed $30,000 for construction of the play equipment.

For further information about Penguin Park, contact Lois Kartfunkel of 22 Orchard Circle or Peggy Coleman, 5 Spencer Court, co-chairmen of the project. Or come to the June 28 meeting at Ms. Coleman's house at 7:30 p.m.

Students Win Scholarships

Two recent Andover High School graduates won scholarships from the Andover Education Association. The money for the awards, which are $1,000 each, are raised through the Ten Week Club, which the association runs twice during the school year. To be eligible for the scholarships, a student must have a parent in the AEA.

Monica Dugal, daughter of Gerald and Marge Dugal of Theodore Avenue, will be attending Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pa., where she will major in communications. Ms. Dugal's mother is a math teacher at the high school.

Cara Zappala is the daughter of Thomas and Sheila Zappala of Pinecrest Road. Ms. Zappala will be attending Boston College with a major in international business. Her mother is a foreign language teacher at Andover High.

This year's scholarships were given in memory of Pat Leahy, a Doherty Middle School social studies is cause for

Just ask the party girls.

They'll tell you that Winchester Hospital has delivered more babies for first-time mothers than any other area community hospital.

You'll prepare for the celebration with our popular childbirth classes and a tour of The Childbirth Center. For noisemakers, we offer a beeper service so you can alert your support person when it's "time" to head to the hospital.

While you're still at The Childbirth Center celebrating your baby's arrival, our nurses will give you additional instructions for caring for the guest of honor. If you have questions when you get home, you can call our 24-hour Warm Lines and have your questions answered by one of our Childbirth Center nurses.

And you can feel secure knowing our Level II Special Care Nursery – the only one in northeastern Massachusetts – and our staff neonatologist are just down the hall.

If you'd like more information about The Childbirth Center at Winchester Hospital, the party girls invite you to call (617) 729-9000, ext. 3306.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Today, most homes are centrally heated so it's unnecessary to swaddle a baby in layers and layers of clothing. Most of the time, the basic outfit consists of a diaper and plastic pants (or a disposable diaper and its own plastic cover); and undershirt, and a nightgown, a kimono or one-piece jump suit. On hot days, you may even discard the outer layer. For trips outdoor or in cooler weather, the baby will need a light sweater and a blanket wrapper. Remember, the objective is to keep a baby comfortable, not hot. Wrapping warmly won't prevent colds. And over-heating causes perspiration and skin rash.

Shopping at TINY TOTLAND is a welcomed experience. Convenient hours. Open 9-5:30 Mon. & Th. 9-9. Do all of your shopping for baby in one convenient stop. Toys for all ages... "heaven to seven". Joel Skaliotis

Book Worm Wins Readathon Award

By Melissa M. DeMeo

When 10-year-old Joel Skaliotis asked a friend of the family if she would sponsor him in a Multiple Sclerosis Society readathon, the friend said sure and promised him $1 per book.

"I heard her when she hung up; she said, 'Now watch him read 60 books,'" remembered Joel, who will be in the fifth grade at Bancroft Elementary School in the fall.

And that's just what he did. "I didn't mean it to be (an inspiration), but it worked," he said.

Joel, the son of George and Nancy Skaliotis of 8 Twin Brook Circle, raised over $170 for the MS Society and received a trophy for his efforts.

Joel's mother picked up an entry form for the readathon at Memorial Hall Library in the spring. Although he got a late start, Joel still managed to read almost 60 books, all of which were required to be over 100 pages in length.

Joel read classics like Treasure Island by Robert Louis Stevenson and Island of the Blue Dolphins by Scott O'Dell and newer books, such as The BFG by Roald Dahl. He didn't have to stick to any theme.

Joel keeps himself pretty busy with Cub Scouts Pack 73, Bancroft's student council, band and chorus and Andover Little League and soccer.

And reading. Ms. Skaliotis described her son as an avid reader. In a recent Memorial Hall Library readathon, he pledged to read 10 books and ended up reading 100. "You can learn a lot," he said.

Entering the MS readathon was an obvious choice for Joel, who said, "I read anyways. I might as well collect money" for a cause. Joel also has a relative with MS, a debilitating disease of the nervous system that eats away at the victim's motor skills. There is no cure.

Joel is thinking of participating in the MS readathon next year and is getting

Doherty Closes School Year In Style

Class outings, special assemblies and a field day in honor of teacher/coach Ted Boudreau highlighted the year-end calendar at Doherty Middle School.

Sixth-graders took a hike to Foster's Pond and Indian Ridge to study ecosystems and habitats. The sixth-grade class took a whale-watching cruise on the Captain Red. A number of whales were sighted, providing the perfect culmination for the year's study of whales. As a final treat, the sixth-graders visited the Mimi and her crew in Gloucester. The class has used the film The Voyage of the Mimi as the focus of an interdisciplinary study.

On Friday grade seven spent the day at Canobie Lake while grade eight headed for Water Country.

Members of seventh and eighth grades participated in the Kids for Fun Comedy Night in the J. Everett Collins Center.

Doherty welcomed parents of next year's sixth-graders at an orientation meeting. The evening offered parents a chance to become familiar with school policy and programs.

Grades six, seven and eight took part in move-up day June 12. The week before the Andover High School student government held an orientation program for next year's freshmen.

The entire Doherty community honored the late Ted Boudreau on June 14 with a special field day and dedication of the school baseball field. Mr. Boudreau had been a teacher and coach at Doherty for many years. In addition to a cookout, sporting events and baseball game, the program featured the announcement of the Ted Boudreau Memorial Fund.

The graduating class held a dance at the school Monday. Refreshments were served. Graduation ceremonies for the eighth-grade class were held Tuesday.

Favorites Return To Kingston

Even though it has been designated as a state fair for only five years, the Kingston State Fair in New Hampshire has a history that goes back at least to 1951. When the gates open at 6 p.m. Friday, June 30, fairgoers will find their favorites have been joined by new attractions that promise to make this year's fair the most exciting ever.

Even the special events are covered by the general admission price and parking on the 55 acres of available space is free. There is so much space that there is room for a helicopter to land and offer rides.

The highlight of Friday evening will be a 35-minute fireworks display at 10 p.m. There will be a pony race with monkeys as jockeys, donkey and burro rides for the kids, the antics of Happy the Clown and inspection of the agricultural exhibits. The midway will be open and all concessions will dispense their taste-tantalizing delights.

The first full day of the fair begins at 10 a.m. Saturday, as does every other day of the fair. The monkey and pony races and Happy the Clown will be joined by draft horse-pulling contests, entertainment by Bushwack, a country music group, and Little Cheyenne, a 12-year-old singer. The Miss Kingston State Fair Pageant will be held at 7 p.m. and an expanded fireworks display will be at 10 p.m.

Sunday will be radio station WLYT Day. The agricultural judging begins with the equine competition and rabbit judging. WLYT will broadcast live from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. The evening will bring two performances by the headline act, Herb Reed, from the original Platters.

Monday will be radio station WERZ Day. The afternoon will be highlighted by the dairy show competition and ventriloquist Donna Marie and her friends, Denny Elwood and Zachary and Dachary, the rabbits. The rock band "Eyewitness" will perform original songs and top hard rock favorites, sharing the stage with another performance by Donna Marie and master puppeteer and impressionist Dick Coffin. WERZ will broadcast live during the evening. And, at midnight, the Kingston State Fair will once again produce its signature event, the lighting of a 50-foot tall bonfire to welcome Independence Day. While such pyrotechnics were a traditional means of celebrating the Fourth in the past, Kingston is one of the few remaining places to witness such a spectacular sight.

Happy the Clown and the monkey and pony races will join the 4-H sheep show on Tuesday, the fair's closing day. The Boston-area rock band "Smash" and the Sheila Curtis Comedy Show, an act of magic, juggling, unicycling, mime and balloon sculpture, will provide entertainment.

The Kingston State Fair originated as a community fundraising carnival organized and run by the town Lions Club, Veterans Club and volunteer fire department. Over the years it grew in attendance until in 1985, with the addition of agricultural exhibits, the format was elevated to be classified as a state fair. Its purpose, however, remains the same: to provide family entertainment and support the community improvement efforts of the not-for-profit sponsors.

Essex Ensemble To Perform

Phillips Academy's Essex Ensemble will perform Friday, July 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the newly renovated Old Town Hall.

Violinists Gerald Itzkoff and Michael Rosenbloom, violist Catherine Consiglio, cellist William Thomas and pianist Peter Warsaw perform and teach at Phillips as part of the school's summer chamber music festival.

The first in a series of concerts sponsored by PA and the Andover Historical Society, the July 7 program will feature the Haydn String Quartet in C major, Op. 76, No. 4, known as the "Kaiser" or "Emperor" quartet. Mr. Haydn originally wrote the theme of the second movement in honor of Franz Joseph II, and it became the Austrian national anthem. Also featured will be Brahms' Piano Quartet No. 2 in A major, Op. 26.

Andover Artist In Boston Performance

A New York City dancer will give two performances at the Genovese Gallery in Boston tonight at 7:30.

Marisa will perform the solo "Tribute to Billie Holiday" and "The Beautiful Lady is Lovely, Naturally," a duet with Melanie Hahn.

Marisa is the daughter of Andover artist David Sullivan and his wife, Camellia, director of the Genovese Gallery and Boston publisher. Marisa graduated from Andover High School in 1983, spending her junior year in Japan as an American Field Service foreign exchange student. She graduated from Barnard College in New York City with a degree in Asian studies in 1988.

While in Japan, Marisa was a member of the Kana-zawa Butoh Kan, a dance company. She has also worked with artists Jo Andres and Mimi Goese. Her work has premiered in New York City at Dixon Place and Public School 122, and she has also performed at Bard College in upstate New York.

Fitness Classes Offered

Now is the time to register for the adult physical fitness classes at the Andover/North Andover YMCA Branch of Merrimack Valley. All classes have limited enrollment. Classes begin the week of July 3.

The Y's Way to Physical Fitness, the YMCA's national program to improve cardiovascular and muscular fitness, meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:15 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. or 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

A Morning Wake-up class meets Tuesday and Thursday from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. for aerobic conditioning.

Freestyle Aerobics, a coed program designed for adults of all levels, will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:35 a.m. to 10:35 a.m. or Tuesday, Thursday from 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and Saturday from 9:05 a.m. to 10:05 a.m.

Joy Aerobic Dance, a choreographed dance and exercise program, is held Tuesday and Thursday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. New dance routines are learned each 10-week session.

L.I.F.E., low impact aerobics for those who prefer less stress on knees and ankles, will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

An air conditioned Nautilus fitness center contains 13 pieces of exercise equipment, two Biocycles, one Life rower and two Cat-Eye ergometer bicycles. A special summer membership, June 1-Sept. 15, is available to all adults, including high school students.

For further information, call the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

"Tribute to Billie Holiday" is a 40-minute dance and script based on the life and music of the jazz singer. The text is by Alexia DeVeux and Inanu Amiri Barada. The performance premiered at Dixon Place in May.

"The Beautiful Lady Is Lovely, Naturally" is a 20-minute duet of dance and poetry from an ancient Egyptian text. The music and title are from works by Aminata Moseka (Abbey Lincoln). The piece was described as "a celebration of the ancient African image of women as creation goddess and lamentation of modern-day distortions and corruptions of that image." The performance premiered at King Tut's Wah Wah Hut in May.

Performing the piece with Marisa will be Ms. Hahn, who has performed with Kei Okada at Franklin Furnace in New York. Ms. Hahn recently organized a series of films by Jewish woman at the Jewish Museum in New York City.

The Genovese Gallery is located at 535 Albany St., opposite the Flower Exchange, in Boston.

Channel 11's regular series Between Takes will feature choral music by the Brookline Community Chorus.

If you have been to an Andover Memorial Day parade, you probably have seen the "militia" and "Redcoats" marching and firing black powder muskets. But did you know there is more to these groups than that? Did you know they actually oppose each other in recreated battles from Revolutionary War times? To learn more about this hobby, tune in a special half-hour program called Back to the Revolution.

Rail Line Modernized To Allow New Equipment

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority has completed modernization of the Haverhill line commuter rail track, which serves Andover, in Medford's Wellington Circle area which will allow for increased train speeds and the operation of the T's new locomotives, beginning June 26, T General Manager Thomas P. Glynn announced.

The new track will allow trains to bypass the Wellington Tunnel, which is too small to accommodate the newer, larger locomotives.

"This new track will provide a faster, smoother ride for Haverhill line riders and will permit the operation of newer, more reliable locomotives," Mr. Glynn said.

Trains will operate exclusively on the new track while the T reconstructs the old Wellington Tunnel. Once work in the tunnel is complete, trains will run over both tracks providing more efficient double track operation and improved service to Haverhill line commuters.

The MBTA, which has seen commuter rail ridership increase by 100 percent in the last five years, has purchased 289 new coaches, 107 of which are now in service.

The first of 56 new coaches will be put into operation this July with the order completed by December, while an order of 75 double-decker coaches will arrive in the fall of 1990. This will mark the first time double-decker coaches will be used in Boston.

Chamber To Hold Finale

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce will hold its "See You in September Finale" Tuesday, July 11, at 5 p.m. at the Andover Marriott on Old River Road.

Attendance is limited to chamber members only. Participants will get a chance to win a work of art from Concordia House.

Host Families Needed

International Training and Exchange, a foreign student exchange program, is seeking families to host students from Spain for four weeks this July.

The high school or college-age students are visiting the Andover/Methuen area to improve their conversational English and learn about the American culture, said local coordinator Gayle Feeney, a teacher in the Methuen schools.

Students will participate in cultural activities, including day trips to Boston and other historical attractions.

Five host families are needed. Hosting a student involves providing some meals and a bed. "All you have to do is be yourself, have a willingness to get involved with the student and to share. A tremendous bond forms; it's the basis for real international friendships," says Ms. Feeney.

For more information, contact Ms. Feeney.

North Andover Firm Expands To Center

Cabot, Cabot & Forbes announces that WFS (Warrington Financial Systems) has leased approximately 10,700 square feet of space on the first floor of One Corporate Drive in the Andover Corporate Center. The building is now 90 percent leased. Project Manager Michael B. Wilcox represented Cabot, Cabot & Forbes in the transaction and broker Mark Roth of Cushman and Wakefield represented the tenant.

WFS is the single largest provider of automated trading and accounting software for the capital markets segment of the banking and financial industries. The firm services more than 7,000 financial institutions across the country and transacted in excess of $40 million in 1988. The move to One Corporate Drive from North Andover was made to accommodate the expansion of the micro products division and additional consulting activities. The Andover office is the headquarters of the micro products division and employs 40 people. WFS chose One Corporate Drive because of the flexibility and sophistication of the building's design and proximity to present and future employees.

Mr. Wilcox stated, "We are very pleased to be able to include such a prestigious firm as WFS on our tenant roster. Andover Corporate Center has successfully provided the kind of first class office environment which appeals to such premier service corporations."

Conference

Northern Essex Community College will host a conference for kindergarten through eighth-grade teachers July 5 to 7.

Called "Enrichment Strategies for the Regular Classroom," the conference will be divided into three one-day workshops: Applying Creative and Critical Thinking to the Content Areas, Enhancing Creativity Through Inventiveness and Using Renzulli's Triad and Other Creative Strategies.

The conference is co-sponsored by the Northern Essex Center for Business and Industry and the Massachusetts Department of Education. Participants can attend one, two or all three workshops.

For further information, call Susan Ziemba.

United Fund Distributes Drug Education Film

The Merrimack Valley United Fund wants United States youth to be drug-free.

The Fund is one of two United Way organizations in the country distributing a film called "Partnership for a Drug-Free America." So far the film has reached approximately 200,000 people with an expected demand for the 300 films, which are in Spanish and English, on hand, said Tracey Dewhurst, public relations director. The only other Fund in the country actively promoting the film, the United Way of Roanoke Valley, Virginia, has distributed 15 copies.

The Merrimack Valley group is offering the film to local schools, businesses, public service agencies and hospitals free of charge. The 13-and-a-half-minute film, aimed at both parents and youngsters, discourages the use and abuse of illegal drugs.

In addition to the film, the program consists of a series of print ads that have been running in local newspapers during May and June—designated by the Fund as anti-drug months. "These ads are meant to reinforce our message that the use of any illegal drug is completely unacceptable," Ms. Dewhurst said.

Church Gears Up For Yard Sale

North Parish Church in North Andover is running a giant yard sale as part of the July 4th festivities at the Old Center of North Andover. Beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the corner of Massachusetts Avenue and Great Pond Road, the sale will include everything from sailboats and trampolines to high quality previously-owned furniture and household appliances.

"We may even have a 1957 Chevy pickup truck," said Allan Heifetz, one of the organizers.

"We have been scouring attics, cellars and garages for months for good stuff cheap," referring to the slogan of Building 19, a discount store.

According to Mel Marchese, the church's program committee chairman, proceeds from the event are needed to help pay for a number of capital projects the church has undertaken this year. "We have just finished painting the steeple tower and are installing an elevator and lavatories that will allow universal access to our meetinghouse," he said.

Mr. Heifetz and Mr. Marchese consider Jerry Ellis of Building 19 "a modern American hero" and have dubbed their project "Building 19."

The North Parish is at 190 Academy Road.

Earl L. Miller, 43, of Bradford, died suddenly June 24, 1989, in Warren, N.H.

"He was a superb organist who really helped us discover the glories of our own organ," said Mike McCall, dean of the faculty at Brooks School. "Because he was so good and had such an enormous appreciation of music, he really helped point out to us what a wonderful resource we had in the organ."

Mr. Miller was a member of the American Guild of Organists and past dean of that group's Merrimack Valley Chapter. He was a member of the Organ Historical Society and the American Theater Organ Society.

He had previously served in churches in Illinois, Virginia, Rockport, Washington, D.C., and England. He had an extensive concert career and was a nationally recognized authority on the performance of Victorian and Edwardian era music.

He was often called upon to recreate organ concerts from these periods. He was a writer, composer, teacher and lecturer throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. He made several recordings, many on historically significant organs.

As a writer, he contributed to the American Organist, the Tracker, the Diapason and the Instrumentalists. He also wrote arts columns for the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune and the Danville (Va.) Register.

For many years he wrote broadcast scripts for the Boston chapter of the American Guild of Organists radio program and was an active accompanist with the Merrimack Philharmonic Orchestra.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Dorothy M. Winn

Due to the number of problems encountered during the commodity food distribution on June 19, the Council on Aging is forced to change the process for registration and distribution of commodity foods. Andover residents will no longer be able to register by phone. Abuse of this liberal registration process by a number of residents has resulted in the need to change the registration process.

Although the next commodity food distribution date has not been set, registration will be held Thursday, Aug. 10, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. All Andover residents residing in private homes or apartments who wish to receive commodity foods must register in person to receive a commodity foods eligibility card and photo ID.

In order to receive commodity foods, residents must participate in income eligibility programs such as food stamps, welfare, Medicaid, SSI, fuel assistance or veteran's aid or meet the income guidelines which are $8,250 for a household of one, $11,000 for two, $13,950 for three and $16,800 for four. To determine eligibility for larger households, add $2,850 for each additional household member. Applicants must register in person and present documentation of participation in a means-tested program or a copy of their 1988 Federal Income Tax return documenting that annual income falls within the federal guidelines.

Residents of elderly housing will continue to receive commodity foods as they have in the past. Income eligibility for residents of public housing is determined at the time of application for housing.

The summer lunch program at the Andover Senior Center begins Monday, July 3, at 11:45 a.m. All Andover residents age 60 and older, regardless of income, are eligible. The cost is 50 cents. Reservations must be made by calling 470-3830 before 2 p.m. on the business day preceding the luncheon you plan to attend.

The free Andover shuttle expands to two free routes on Monday, July 3. The new route will include Doctor's Park on Haverhill Street and Ballardvale. A schedule of the new bus routes and pickup times are available at the senior center. The bus service is available to all residents Monday through Friday from 7:03 a.m. to 6:58 p.m. Both buses will make stops at the senior center at the same time to allow passengers a convenient point of transfer.

Summer activities at the senior center provide a good way to beat the heat. The center is airconditioned and there's bingo on Fridays and pokeno on Wednesdays.

Diaper Disposal A Problem

By Virginia Cole

Diapers! This is one recyclable material I have thought too hot to handle. For weeks I have received calls and letters from people concerned with the plastic in disposable diapers. It is said that it will never disintegrate, and even young mothers using these products have been concerned. I just didn't now how to handle it. I could see Dave White, our plastics man, disappearing down the road if someone showed up with a month's supply of used disposable, but, of course, plastic diapers.

Perhaps you heard something on television about this, and a Boston newspaper had an article on it last week, parts of which I will quote. Procter and Gamble, the largest manufacturer of plastic-covered diapers, has announced that they are funding several projects to recycle some of the 16 billion disposable diapers used and discarded in the United States each year. "Plans call for the plastic in the diapers to be recycled into such things as flower pots, garbage bags and park benches" (they said it, not me.)

The article also mentioned that the non-disposability of these products proposes a health hazard because of dangerous bacteria and viruses they contain. Even the mothers who called me didn't mention that one.

The company says they believe solving this problem is their responsibility, and I am very glad they will be working on it and that Andover doesn't have to handle it by itself.

Thanks to all who called. Must be you called other places too and it worked. I guess it is one more example of keep calling and something finally happens.

Keep calling your local officials too. We need a working composting site and a curbside pick-up for glass and plastic. The town manager and selectmen know what I think. Do they know what you think?

Graduate Of Tilton

Brian Young Wise of Chestnut Street, North Andover, graduated from Tilton School in Tilton, N.H., May 27.

He was captain of the varsity tennis team and the recipient of the Jimmy Simpson Award for contributing the most to the tennis program for the 1989 season.

Mr. Wise also received the William David Kimball Memorial Award, a character prize for creative prowess and enthusiasm.

The son of William and Deborah Wise, formerly of Andover, he will be attending Northeastern University in September.

New Committee Will Examine Ways To Build Affordable Housing

By Frank Messina

As Steve Colyer put it in a memo to the Planning Board Tuesday, the affordable housing "wolf has gone away from the door."

With Andover reaching state-mandated levels of affordable housing last year, "comprehensive permit"—a process that gave developers a lever to bypass municipal zoning bylaws—is no longer spoken like a curse.

But, although "the wolf is gone...for awhile," warns Mr. Colyer, "you can be sure he's still out there in the woods."

It's the planning staffer's way of saying that though the ailment is gone, the symptoms remain. And as the town continues to develop its master plan, affordable housing remains an issue that should be watched carefully.

Tuesday night, Mr. Colyer and the Planning Board introduced a new committee that will look at ways to develop affordable housing in Andover.

The committee is an extension of efforts currently being made on the state level to pay more attention to local solutions to housing problems.

"This is a plan that calls for implementation; it's not meant to sit on a shelf," said Mr. Colyer. "It will tie in local needs, stir in regional needs and come up with housing action."

The committee, unappointed as yet, will consist of representatives from town boards and the League of Women Voters. Its findings and recommendations on all aspects will not only be aimed at Andover, but will be circulated to a special state legislative commission, of which Mr. Colyer is a member.

The commission met for the first time in May, and Mr. Colyer praised its creation as "the first time the state has heard loud and clear that local initiative should count towards the 10 percent" affordable housing level required to receive state revenue.

"The job ahead is not all that formidable. We have a sound base from which to work, and we have a lull in the storm in which to do it," Mr. Colyer said in his memo.

"We need to develop a balanced housing program which will take into account the needs for family, elderly, rental and ownership. More importantly, the plan must contain realistic goals and be able to be implemented."

The housing committee received support from the Planning Board, which scheduled the new group's first meeting for sometime this month.

SHED Abutters Await Meeting With Manager

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Shawsheen School abutters may not have to wait too much longer for their promised meeting with Town Manager Kenneth Mahony to discuss the appearance and landscaping of a portable classroom slated for the school grounds. Mr. Mahony said he had been waiting for an agreement between the Shawsheen Extended Day Care program and the School Committee to be finalized before he met with the abutters.

"Unless there is a contract, there won't be any landscaping until the thing (portable classroom) is in...I'd be wasting the residents' time and my own," he said June 21.

Mr. Mahony was referring to the committee action taken the previous evening to table a vote on the proposed agreement until he met with the abutters.

"The committee in good faith should table the contract until Ken Mahony has had the appropriate meeting," said committeeman Richard Hubbell at the Tuesday night meeting.

Frustrated abutters spoke out about the lack of attention their concerns were given by the town manager and his department that same evening.

Subcommittee To Examine Center's Accessibility

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Efforts are being made by both the town and the Andover Endowment for the Arts Inc. to bridge the community accessibility problems of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts. The AEA, which manages the facility, has come under fire recently from many community groups, who claim there is an

Town Gears Up For the Fourth

On what other day could you decorate your grandmother and get a prize for it?

Andover's committee for patriotic observances is once again sponsoring Fourth of July festivities for the entire community, of which the centerpiece is the annual Horribles Parade. A Horribles Parade, for the uninitiated, is a participants' parade. Children of all ages can decorate bicycles, siblings, pets or grandparents. Neighborhoods can band together to produce a float or a satirical theme.

Prizes will be awarded for such categories as best pet, best doll carriage, best bicycle, best tricycle, most satirical, best neighborhood group, etc. After the parade, there are always games for kids in the Park.

The parade will form at 9 a.m. at the corner of Bartlet Street and Punchard Avenue and get started promptly at 9:30.

The parade will be preceded by an all-town breakfast at 8 a.m. at the bandstand in the Park in front of town offices, where diners will be entertained by Dixieland jazz, a juggler called Cyrus a dancing stilt walker. Bring your own chairs.

This year there's a new addition to the festivities: a "block party." Prizes will be awarded to groups that bring in their own blocks, Legos, Tinker Toys, etc., and assemble them at the celebration. You have to bring your own surface. The competition begins at 9 a.m.

The morning celebrations will conclude with traditional and patriotic music by the Middlesex Concert Band, back for its eighth year.

Later in the evening, fireworks will brighten the sky over Andover High School's Eugene V. Lovely Field at dusk. If it rains, the fireworks will be postponed until July 5.

On Right Track

It would appear that the efforts of the Andover Endowment for the Arts, the school committee and other town officials are on the right track in their efforts to resolve controversy surrounding the operation of the Collins Center.

Local and school groups had complained about the availability of the center to the schools and other Andover organizations, as well as the cost of rental of the facility.

A committee has been appointed as an initial step toward resolving the issue and will be meeting next Wednesday to begin their work.

Gerald Cohen, president of the Andover Endowment for the Arts, which runs the center has been cooperative with all groups and has expressed an interest in making the facility as accessible as possible to the Andover schools and community organizations.

To that end, it has been proposed that volunteers be trained to work with the sophisticated stage equipment, rather than relying on paid professionals for all planned performances.

Mr. Cohen said that in the fall, publication of a calendar of events taking place at the Collins Center will indicate that Andover High dominates use of the facility.

Based on the concerns being addressed by all involved in the Collins Center operations, it would seem that a successful resolution of the expressed problems can be reached.

At the same time, the continued appearance of top professional entertainment can be maintained.

Since its opening over five years ago, thousands of people from Andover and surrounding communities, have enjoyed the professional talent brought to the Collins Center through the efforts of the AEA.

Also, during that same period, many public school groups have been exposed to cultural and educational programs at the center.

The Collins Center is a fine facility and has meant much to Andover since its opening five years ago.

There well could be some legitimate complaints concerning its availability to schools and community groups which are being addressed now and, we trust, will be resolved to the satisfaction of all, without sacrifice of the professional programs conducted since that initial appearance of the Boston Pops orchestra which opened the building.

Unfortunately, similar feelings can not be expressed for those opposed to the Shawsheen Extended Day Program.

While the town has approved continuance of the SHED program through purchase of portable classrooms for the Shawsheen School property, neighbors continue to express their opposition, currently critical of Town Manager Kenneth Mahony for not meeting with them to discuss proposed landscaping.

Maybe Mr. Mahony should meet with the group, but his failure to respond quickly is understandable since a contract has to be signed for delivery of the portable building. Landscaping will be the final portion of the project and may not take place until some time in the fall. Certainly there is sufficient time.

The town has spoken and approved the plan. It is time for the neighbors to work with the community to insure continued success.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

You could really feel for that Boston policeman who lost his horse when it plunged through a wooden walkway on the Northern Avenue bridge last week.

Boston newspapers and television adequately portrayed the sorrow he felt at the loss of a trusted companion.

Anyone who has seen these horses and law enforcement riders in action can appreciate the work that both do, particularly with regard to crowd control.

Have seen them on occasion, like around this time of year when illegal fireworks make their appearance, when people throw the firecrackers underneath them and the explosion fails to deter the steed from its duty, with the exception of getting a nudge from its rider, who will urge him on command to deal his rump into the crowd and possibly the face of the perpetrator.

They also are used in the Fenway Park area, keeping the crowds under control and keeping people moving in the right direction.

It is easy to understand how an officer, or anyone, can become attached to an animal. Sort of like household pets, only one might suppose that in the case of the mounted patrols there is a certain greater attachment created over a period of time.

Guess that like pets, that attachment grows from the fact that animals are reliable, faithful and dependent—a few quite important qualities.

The shortest period of time seems to be that period when something like an oil spill happens, or a nuclear plant opens and the protestors appear on the scene.

Last weekend an oil tanker ran up on Brenton Reef in Newport, R.I., and before you could take time to assess the damage the protestors were out in Brenton Park with placards, sheets, etc. protesting the action.

On the water itself in Narragansett Bay, boaters were out with their 'Save The Bay' signs, either carried or painted on the side of boats.

Of course, in some cases the 'Save The Bay' plea was not aimed so much at the environmental concerns, but more toward protecting their hallowed dock space.

See, many of these people drift into Newport in early June, hiring someone to negotiate their yacht from some distant port, then they sit there anchored in port appearing occasionally on deck to consume a silver bullet, otherwise known as a martini.

This lasts until sometime in September when the hired hand is retained to return the craft to storage for the winter.

As for me, I'm more concerned for 'saving the bay' for the lobsters, fish and birds and general environment. The alleged protestors can pollute themselves if they wish.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — June 1889

The Town Clerk has received the Acts and Resolves of the Great and General court of the current year, and has copies for such citizens as will call for them.

Principal Clark and family leave to-morrow for their home at Kingston, N.H.

Mr. H.H. Tyler and family have gone to their summer cottage at Clifton, and Mr. John Flint and family to their usual summer place at Wareham.

One important feature of the vacation outing of our citizens this year is that nearly all, if not all, leave some one in their 'houses to regulate the matter of unseasonable callers.

It will also be remembered that there are now night-watchman on the lookout, and that the street-light committee were authorized to have the lamps trimmed and burning during the summer—also that the number on the "dog-watch" force increases at the rate of twenty-five each year.

Speaking about dogs, we learn that there are over one hundred unlicensed dogs still going about in Andover.

Speaking about licenses, permits are given by the Town Clerk to citizens of Andover for fishing Haggett's and Pomp's Pond after July 1.

Rev. Dr. James G. Merrill of St. Louis is to occupy Mrs. Merrill's house on Phillips Street this summer, Mrs. Merrill and family going to Topeka, Kansas.

Mr. Alfred Lloyd, who was a teacher in Phillips Academy last year, and has been a graduate student at Harvard College this year, took his Master's degree there on Wednesday, delivering an oration on The New Selfishness.

Miss Cynthia Flint is spending the week at Hampton beach.

George Richardson has been

Miss Katherine Hannon of Whittier street is spending a few weeks with relatives in Weston.

The Andover Canoe club will hold a basket lunch at Pomp's Pond Saturday June 27. The party will leave the Club House at 3 p.m. Members are cordially invited to bring their friends.

The Royals will play the Diamond Springs nine on Riverside Park, Lawrence, Saturday afternoon. The Royals won the first game played by a score of 3 to 2.

Wednesday was a typical circus day, and special cars were in demand all day long for patrons from Andover who wished to attend the "Biggest Show on Earth" at Lawrence.

Clarifying Misinformation On SHED

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

At the School Committee meeting of June 20, some questions were raised concerning the Shawsheen Extended Day Care program's non-compliance with Office for Children regulations at noontime. I would like to try to clarify the issue.

For the past five years, SHED has worked with a licenser who retired last July from OFC. When she did our licensing study, she was well aware of the fact that from 11:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. daily and on early release days, we have both the 38 morning SHED children and the 38 afternoon SHED children at SHED at the same time.

Her interpretation of the regulation was that we could have no more than the licensed capacity (38) in the classrooms at one time. Since we had access to the gym/lunchroom during that hour, as long as we did not have the two groups in the same place at the same time and as long as we were adequately staffed, there was no problem. She did not write this all out on our license.

The problem came when "someone" called OFC to complain that we had too many children at SHED. When our new licenser came to do a spot check at 3:10 p.m. on May 5, we, of course, had the proper number of children. During my explanation of our procedures during the day, I told her about the noontime overlap. Her interpretation of the regulation was that we could have no more than 38 in our care regardless of what other space was available without having it so specified on our license. In order to have it written on the license, she would have to do a relicensing study, which is extremely time consuming.

The licenser had to write a non-compliance report, but in light of the fact that SHED has never had a problem or complaint of any kind before this one, that we had been following this procedure for the past five years with the OK of our previous licenser, that the program was closing June 20 (six weeks away) and would need to be relicensed in the fall and that the non-compliance was a technicality, not a serious infraction, OFC decided to leave us in a "non-compliance" state until the closing of school. Our license next year will be changed to include the proper wording.

I have spoken with the director of licensing for the state, who is the person who explained our situation to the abutters. Apparently her information was not repeated accurately, and she has volunteered to speak with any School Committee person who needs further clarification.

I hope this has cleared up any misinformation and misconceptions concerning our integrity. I am very proud of the SHED program and deeply resent people using bits of misinformation to try to discredit the program.

Honors For Ted

To The Editor Of the TOWNSMAN:

The June 14 ceremonies honoring Ted Boudreau in Andover were particularly well done and appreciated by those who attended.

The speakers were poignant and from the heart. I especially enjoyed Jim Hurley's poem in honor of Ted. My brother Bill's personal remarks were also enjoyed by those of us who played with Ted at the Playstead. It was really a wonderful day for Ted's family, friends, students and teammates.

The alumni/varsity game that followed was incredible. Who would have believed Ami Reming, Bill Vickers, Norm Wallace, Kevin Lynch, Cal Deyermund and Tim Majerison would be playing ball at the Playstead again (only to mention a few). Please take note: the Reming curve is still intact.

Ted would have loved it.

Writing In

When writing a letter to the editor, please type and double space and send it to The TOWNSMAN at P.O. Box 1986, Andover, Mass. 01810.

Poms Pond opened for the summer season Saturday. Consultants will soon be making an assessment of Andover's only public beach and its water.

Poms Pond Study Planned

By Margaret Pustell

The town of Andover is planning to find out exactly how Poms Pond is faring and what, if anything, should be done to maintain and improve it. The water quality is good and is tested weekly during the summer by the board of health.

But ponds gradually change, so it is important to find out what can be done to take care of and improve the swimming pond as the years go by.

The Andover Conservation Commission and the Department of Community Services applied to the state clean lakes program in the spring of 1988 for a grant to fund a thorough study of the pond. The town was awarded the grant in August 1988 (two-thirds to be paid for by the state and one-third by the town). The Massachusetts clean lakes program made a preliminary investigation checking past history, runoff and bordering lands and taking water samples. They then drew up a formal document defining the scope of the proposed study.

Accumulating data during the study will take about 18 months and will be done by professional consultants with some flow monitoring chores done by town specialists. There are two main parts to the study: a diagnostic study to research all material about the pond and its history, including its present status, soils, sediments, plants, watershed area, fish, water quality, drainage, storm flow, etc.; and a feasibility study resulting in a comprehensive series of recommendations for the pond.

For each recommendation it will list the advantages, costs, expected results, alternatives, problems, etc. Then the town can decide what action it might want to take.

Just as the study was going out to bid in the fall of 1988, Massachusetts realized it had big financial problems and the funds were put on hold.

Collins Center

AEA monopoly of the auditorium.

The School Committee appointed a subcommittee to look into ways the facility could better serve the community as a whole last Tuesday. The subcommittee will set up guidelines, examine policies and evaluate the rental fee structure of the Collins Center, said Andres Salazar, School Committee member and subcommittee chairman. The first meeting has been tentatively scheduled for July 5.

Members of the committee are Jan Burkholder of 1 Stafford Lane; Tom Ciccia, 9 Exeter Way; Jack Dziadul, 11 Acropolis Circle; Diana Gould, 21 Greybirch Road; Ned Hines, Jr., 63 Salem St.; and Dana Hirst, 2 Woodhill Road.

Mr. Salazar, who recommended the nominees to the subcommittee, was criticized by fellow School Committee members last week for not appointing representatives of interest groups. He defended his choices, saying each was chosen for his or her involvement in community and school affairs, leadership skills, areas of expertise and mixture of viewpoints.

After a lengthy committee discussion, a member of the school department and an AEA representative were added to the list of names as adjunct members to the subcommittee. The two representatives have yet to be named.

The AEA board of trustees met with Selectman Gerald Silverman and Mr. Salazar last Wednesday to discuss further measures they could take to make the center more affordable and accessible.

"The major thrust of the meeting was to start a dialogue between the three boards (selectmen, School Committee and AEA)," said Mr. Salazar.

A full calendar of center events will be published regularly, said AEA President Gerald Cohen.

"This way people will see that the school (Andover High School) dominates the calendar," said Mr. Cohen. One of the uses of the Collins Center is as an auditorium for the high school.

He added that the AEA will begin an accessibility outreach program for training interested community members in operations of some of the more sophisticated theater equipment in the auditorium.

Another impasse the meeting breached was the question of paring down high rental fees charged to small, non-profit community groups for use of the auditorium. The AEA, through its endowment, will begin in the fall to develop funds to subsidize rental costs for community groups, said Mr. Cohen.

"The AEA is looking to us (the School Committee) for some guidelines" in deciding what groups will be eligible for subsidies, said Mr. Salazar. The burden of deciding policy should be placed on the School Committee, which is in charge of the Collins Center, he said.

Programs Aid Home Repair

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income there are federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes.

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in the country. When a neighborhood deteriorates, many things happen physically and socially. When the homes look shabby, a neighborhood seems more attractive to crime and criminals. An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become shabby looking and in need of maintenance, residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and very quickly the selling price of homes drops sharply. This accelerates the cycle of degeneration.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money (that does not have to be repaid) for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at no interest. In many areas utility companies will do energy conservation work free or at low cost and lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficient energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods. Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible for some programs regardless of income. Most of the loans offer long terms and low payments.

Some home improvements covered under these programs are attic and wall insulation, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors and locks, window guards, sidewalks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing work, new roofs, gutters or downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has published "Consumers Guide to Home Repair Grants and Subsidized Loans," a 248-page book which lists more than 7,000 sources of loan and grant programs offered by all levels of government in addition to utility companies and others, typical programs offered and eligibility requirements. Form letters for inquiries to these loan and grant sources are included as well as detailed instructions on determining your debt-to-income ratio for eligibility. The book can be obtained from CERC Grants, 134 Evergreen Place, East Orange, N.J. 07018.

Robert L. Berko of CERC says, "Some of these programs have no income ceiling and others allow income of as much as $100,000 per year. There are even programs for which tenants are eligible and many allow loans or give grants to poor credit risks.

The book describes in detail how to pick a reputable contractor, negotiate a contract and insure that work is done properly and for a fair price.

Bromine-Based Sanitizers Curtails Chlorine Odor

Anyone who's been near a pool knows what chlorine smells like. The strong odor is the result of waste products which combine with chlorine to form compounds called chloramines.

Most people believe that chlorine odor, plus skin and eye irritation, are a "necessary evil" that comes with the enjoyment of swimming in a sanitized pool. That, however, is not the case.

Due to the development of bromine-based sanitizers, swimming can be the pleasure it's meant to be.

Recently-developed bromine pool and spa chemicals provide all the sanitizing benefits of chlorine, yet are odorless and don't irritate the eyes or sinuses. Brominated sanitizers containing Clorfree, a new additive introduced by Hydrotech Chemical Corporation, have been demonstrated to be one of the most effective and easiest ways available of keeping pools sanitized.

Hydrotech, a subsidiary of Great Lakes Chemical Corporation, reports that the bromine-based sanitizers have an added plus: they help save towels and swimwear by causing less fading and chemical damage than chlorine products.

Labor-savers Help

A lot of labor-saving gardening aids have come along in recent years that allow senior gardeners to get as much done as ever but with a lot less effort; like those garden carts with the big bicycle wheels.

Keep your eyes open for work savers. There are literally dozens of them at local stores that enable seniors to harvest as many beautiful flowers and home-grown vegetables as folks half their age.

Some Simple Steps To Help Get A Lawn Back In Shape

Chances are your lawn took a beating in last year's drought. If you were allowed to water at all last summer, you probably did so sparingly and may have made things worse. Shallow, sporadic watering encourages weak surface roots that parch and die in summer heat. The result is sparse, patchy grass and an all-out invasion by crabgrass and weeds.

If your lawn appears to be in reasonably good condition and weeds are not a problem, fertilize before the first flush of new growth and follow the watering and mowing tips below. But, if more than 25 percent of your lawn is dead or badly damaged, you will need to dethatch and overseed to re-establish healthy turf. Follow these simple steps.

1. Rent a power rake or verticutter. These machines loosen thatch and bring it to the surface where it can be removed with a rake or lawn sweeper. The verticutter actually slices into the existing turf, creating a bed for new seed.

2. Purchase a good quality grass seed mixture recommended for your area and conditions. Beware of bargain seed—it often contains a high percentage of seeds and inert matter.

3. Overseed at a rate of 8 to 10 seeds per square inch. The slices made by the verticutter will provide a perfect bed for the new seeds.

4. After seeding, apply a spring lawn fertilizer with crabgrass control. The low nitrogen formula is ideal for sprouting seedlings and will provide some immediate greening of the existing grass.

5. Water gently several times daily with a lawn sprinkler. The seeded areas should be kept uniformly moist but not sopping. Never let the soil surface dry out completely while the seed is germinating—two to four weeks or until grass is at least two inches high.

6. When new grass passes the two-inch mark, it's time to mow. Throughout the growing season, adjust mower height to allow for a cut no shorter than 2 inches in spring and fall and 2½ to 3 inches during the hot weather. The extra length gives the grass some protection from heat and drought and provides more leaf area for nutrient production to build strong, healthy turf.

Mowing tip: before the mowing season gets underway, have your mower blade sharpened and check its condition periodically. A dull blade rips the tops off grass plants giving the whole lawn a sickly, greyish appearance.

7. After six weeks of new growth, it's advisable to feed the entire lawn with a slow-release, high nitrogen (30-4-4) fertilizer.

8. If dandelions and other broadleaf weeds are present, apply a complete fertilizer with weed killer.

9. In the autumn, apply a low nitrogen (10-16-20) fall fertilizer with calcium and sulphur to stimulate root development, "winterize" the grass and give it a strong headstart in spring.

10. An occasional deep watering is far better for a lawn than a daily sprinkle. Run your sprinkler until at least an inch of water has been applied over the entire lawn. A cup or can placed in the path of the sprinkler makes a handy water meter.

Lawn Can Be Greener

Now the lawn can be greener thanks to a new coated seed that may be the answer to lawn woes.

Recent research shows young grass seedlings can be protected from fungus and soil insects during pre-germination and germination. Coated seeds are available that contain certain natural compounds that enhance a seed's root and forage growth. In addition, other compounds serve as natural fungicides and insecticides as well as acting as a bird repellent without harming the bird.

The patented method to coat the seeds is called Penkote, developed by Pennington Enterprises. The coating appears as tiny crystals. When the seeds are planted in soil and become wet from warm rains, the crystals effervesce the treatment into the surrounding soil, making the Penkote available to the roots of the plant.

The coating process literally seals each seed inside a layer of material containing specific fungicides, natural insecticides and nutrients to protect the seed and assist the development of a healthy lawn.

Auditing Statements Outlined

Nine new Statements on Auditing Standards have been published to provide guidance for CPAs auditing financial statements, according to Joseph C. Craig, CPA, chairman of the accounting and auditing committee of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants Inc.

Included in the standards are major changes in the wording of the auditor's standard report. The report is now revised so it gives clearer descriptions of the auditor's responsibility, work the auditor does and assurance the auditor gives on financial statements.

The statements were issued by the auditing standards board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and are effective for audits and financial statements for periods beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1989, with two exceptions.

According to Mr. Craig, SAS Number 58, "Reports on Audited Financial Statements," is effective for reports issued on or after Jan. 1, 1989, and SAS Number 55, "Consideration of the Internal Control Structure in a Financial Statement Audit," is effective for audits of financial statements for periods beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1990. "Early application is permissible for all nine standards," Mr. Craig said.

The new standards also clarify the auditor's responsibility for designing an audit to detect fraud and illegal acts, evaluating an entity's systems of internal control and considering and disclosing substantial doubt about a company's ability to continue as a going concern.

"The statements on auditing standards are designed to improve audit performance and auditor communications," Mr. Craig said. "They should bring the auditor's responsibility and performance closer to what the public thinks auditors do."

The only standard that is effective on a delay basis concerns the broadening of the auditor's responsibility to consider internal control structure when planning and performing an audit. This standard is operative for audits of financial statements for periods beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1990. This delay, according to Mr. Craig, allows CPA firms sufficient time to implement the standard into their audit activities.

"The accounting profession has a public responsibility to continually assess auditing standards in light of the expectation and concerns of others," said Theodore J. Flynn, Massachusetts Society of CPAs executive director. "These new standards demonstrate the profession's continuing concern for its public responsibilities."

A new brochure, "The New Auditor's Report," describing the changes in the standard auditor's report is available free of charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "New Report," Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants Inc., 3 Center Plaza, Boston 02108.

North Andover Ophthalmologist Restores Sight To Child

In a rare operation last week at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, ophthalmologist Roger Steinert, a resident of North Andover, restored sight to the eye of a 4-year-old child.

Shortly after Joshua Crenshaw of Springfield was born, doctors removed the lens in his right eye because it was clouded with a cataract. Although a plastic lens is usually implanted in adult patients to replace the human lens, which focuses light entering the eye, surgeons cannot safely implant synthetic lenses in children.

Efforts to help Joshua see using a contact lens failed. His local eye surgeon then attempted to focus light entering the eye by covering his cornea, the clear tissue at the front of the eye, with donor eye tissues. Joshua rapidly developed a serious infection that destroyed the donor tissue and left his own cornea scarred.

Joshua's cornea was so scarred that light could not enter the eye. Even if it could, the light would not be focused because he had no lens. Joshua was referred to Dr. Steinert, who devised a unique operation that would provide a clear cornea and a means to focus light entering the eye.

During the 90-minute procedure at the infirmary, Dr. Steinert shaved off the top scarred layers of Joshua's cornea and implanted a piece of hydrogel, the same material used to make soft contact lenses. The implanted material focuses light properly onto the back of the eye. Then the implant was covered with donated corneal tissue, replacing the scarred cornea with a clear front layer.

This hydrogel corneal inlay operation is very new. Only 20 patients in the world have undergone the procedure and Dr. Steinert is the leading surgeon in the investigative team, having performed seven such procedures at the infirmary.

Because Joshua's case was the first ever such operation on a child and the first to be combined with donated corneal tissue, it required approval by the infirmary's human studies committee and the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D.C. Approval was granted when officials realized the procedure was the only way to restore Joshua's sight.

Five days after the operation the bandages were removed and Joshua's eyesight was already improving. Full recovery will depend on months of therapy to strengthen the eye, but Joshua has the chance to grow up with useful vision, infirmary staff members said.

Hearsay Bill Gets Initial Approval

The Judiciary Committee gave a favorable recommendation to the "child hearsay bill" (Senate 795), which would allow the out-of-court statements of child sexual abuse victims to be admitted in court under certain circumstances.

At the request of Essex County District Attorney Kevin M. Burke, who drafted the legislation, Senator Frederick E. Berry (D-Peabody) will ask the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court for an advisory opinion as to the bill's constitutionality.

"I'm very pleased with the progress of this critical piece of legislation," said District Attorney Burke. "Too often judges and juries don't get to hear the most complete, most compelling testimony, that of the child victim. This legislation represents an important tool in the fight to protect our children and put child molesters in jail where they belong."

"I hope the Supreme Court will rule expeditiously on our request for an advisory opinion, in order that we may better serve the children of the commonwealth and accelerate the prosecution of child molesters," Sen. Berry said.

Sen. Berry, Sen. Paul Harold (D-Quincy) and Reps. Lawrence Alexander (D-Marblehead), Barbara Hildt (D-Amersbury) and Susan Tucker (D-Andover) sponsored the bill.

At the recent Democratic Issues Convention in Boston, more than 1,500 activists signed a petition in support of Mr. Burke's justice for children plank, which included the child hearsay bill.

Legion Team Improves Record

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Legion Post 8 baseball team racked up consecutive victories over Beverly (13-1), Swampscott (7-5) and Saugus (5-3) last week to improve its overall record to 4-2-1.

Post 8 also battled to a 4-4 tie with Methuen, and escaped a brutal six-games-in-six-nights schedule when one contest was rained out (Wakefield) and another (Lawrence) was postponed because no umpires were available.

Andover is currently in the midst of a 12-day break because eight of its players are on a trip to Austria. Post 8 will resume on-the-field activities July 7.

The Lawrence game has been rescheduled for July 20 and Wakefield for July 24. The 4-4 tie with Methuen must be replayed from the start, and that contest is now set for July 25.

Andover-Methuen

A three-run Andover rally in the top of the seventh at the Pelham Street field erased a 4-1 Methuen Post 122 advantage.

Darkness called a halt to the game after Methuen batted and failed to score in the bottom of the inning.

Andover sprayed 14 basehits, including 13 singles, all over the field. But Post 8 left nine men on base, and was victimized by two Methuen doubleplays and some excellent all-around defense by the host team.

The locals also committed four errors behind complete-game pitcher John Russell that led to three unearned Methuen runs.

Russell went the seven-inning route, allowing eight hits, walking two and fanning two.

Andover moved ahead 1-0 in the first when Dave Blank singled, stole second and scored on Keith Abernathy's single.

Defending Essex County Zone 8 champion Methuen went ahead with three runs in the third, then added another tally in the fourth.

Joe Lyons launched Andover's last-inning comeback against Methuen ace Dave Bueno with a single. Steve Howes doubled, Brett Hammond smacked a pinch-hit two-run single, and Russell tied it with an RBI single after Hammond advanced on a wild pitch.

Blank went 3-for-3 to lead the way while Lyons, Howes and Joe Iarrobino contributed two hits apiece.

Andover, 13-1

Lefthander Dave Blank (1-0) fired five innings of overpowering one-hit, shutout ball to earn his first Legion victory at Beverly's expense.

Blank, who walked only one and struck out eight, gave way to Bill Batchelder in the sixth. He surrendered one hit and the lone Beverly run, whiffing two and walking one.

Joe Lyons sparked Post 8, which scored in every inning, with a perfect 4-for-4 performance. Steve Howes added a pair of doubles and Blank a brace of singles.

Lyons also collected three RBI and Blank two.

Andover scored twice in the first inning, rang up three runs in the second, third and fourth frames, and wrapped up the attack with a pair in the fifth. The game was halted by darkness after 5½.

Andover, 7-5

Big righthander Barry Connors (2-0) earned the pitching victory, and also singled home the eventual winning runs, as Post 8 constructed an early 7-0 lead and withstood a five-run Swampscott outburst in the top of the fifth at Phillips Academy.

Connors worked the first 5-1/3 innings, yielding just four hits, fanning six and walking six. Brett Hammond mopped up and earned the save, stopping Swampscott on one hit and whiffing one in his 1-2/3 inning stint.

Post 8 scored twice in the first when Dave Blank singled, Joe Iarrobino singled, Joe Lyons' grounder was booted for a run, and Iarrobino crossed on a wild pitch.

Andover added an unearned run in the third as Connors reached on an error, moved up on a wild pitch, and raced across when Iarrobino ripped his second single.

The game-winning four-run rally in the fourth featured a single by John Russell, sacrifice bunts from Bill Batchelder and Curt Soloman, a pair of Swampscott errors, and Connors' two-run single.

Andover managed just seven singles itself, Iarrobino pacing the attack with a pair.

Andover, 5-3

A long sacrifice fly to leftfield by Steve Howes snapped a 3-3 tie in the fifth, carrying Andover to its third consecutive victory at Phillips Academy.

John Russell (1-1-1) tamed Saugus for his first victory this season, limiting the visitors to four hits, striking out eight and walking none. Two of the Saugus hits

Andover Gold In Impressive Wins

By Rick Harrison

Andover Gold launched what it hopes will be its sixth league championship season in the last nine years, chalking up a pair of lopsided victories after a one-sided season-opening loss in Greater-Reading Pony League action last week.

After absorbing an 11-2 setback to the Reading Astros on opening night, Gold rebounded to whip North Reading 14-1 and Wilmington 12-3.

Gold (2-1), which ended its Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League affiliation with three straight championships before annexing two Greater-Reading League titles in 1985 and '86, faced intra-town rival Andover Blue last night and hosts new league entry North Andover Chiefs tonight at Andover High (6 p.m.).

Reading Astros, 11-2

There wasn't much to cheer about here, as Astros' lefthander Dave McHugh fired a six-hitter and Reading exploded for six runs in the bottom of the first and four more in the fifth.

Scott Halecki was the first Gold baserunner, reaching on a two-out infield error in the third, and Jim Landry produced the first hit with a one-out single in the fourth.

AG notched its two runs after two were down in the sixth. Mike Sullivan drew a walk, took second on a balk, and scored on Mike Daley's single. Landry followed with his second single, and Daley crossed when Mark Hopkinson smacked a basehit.

Landry finished with two hits, Matt Daniels and Jim Hanning contributed singles, and effective relief stints were turned in by pitchers Mike Daley and Scott Eggert.

Andover, 14-1

Lefthanders Jim Hanning (1-1) and Scott Eggert (two innings) combined on a three-hitter, striking out six and walking three, while Jim Landry, Mark Hopkinson and Matt Daniels combined for 10 hits and 10 RBI.

Landry went 4-for-5 with three RBI and two runs scored, Hopkinson was a perfect 3-for-3 with four RBI, and Daniels added a near-cycle single, double, triple and three RBI.

The 20-hit assault also included two hits apiece from John Shea, Scott

Halecki and Jim Hanning.

RBI singles by Landry and Hopkinson made it 2-0 in the first, and it jumped to 5-0 after two as Landry lashed a two-run single and run-scoring hits were added by Hanning and Hopkinson.

A five-run fourth was fueled by Hopkinson's two-run single, and a four-run sixth was highlighted by a two-run double from Daniels and RBI single by Halecki.

Mike Daley contributed a double, and singles were added by Mike Sullivan, Todd Murray and Sam McLellan.

Scott Eggert, Jim Hanning, Jim Landry and Todd Murray scored two runs each.

Jim Landry stabbed a sharp liner at third base and doubled off a North Reading runner at first for the game's top defensive play.

Matt Daniels also played a strong game at catcher.

Andover, 12-3

Southpaw Scott Eggert (1-0) completed a busy week on the mound with a route-going six-hitter, striking out 11, walking none and throwing just 102 pitches.

Eggert fanned the side in the second, had eight of his whiffs in the first four innings, and didn't allow the first Wilmington hit until the fifth.

In the Gold first Mike Sullivan laced a leadoff single, stole second and eventually scored on Matt Daniels' two-out single.

Singles by Jim Hanning, Todd Murray and Scott Halecki (two RBI) made it 3-0 in the second, and in the fourth run-producing hits were drilled by Mike Daley (double), Scott Halecki and Mark Hopkinson.

Danny Hansbury and John Shea scored runs in the fifth on a wild pitch and passed ball respectively.

Gold paraded 10 batters to the plate in the sixth, scoring four times with the key stroke a two-run single by Sam McLellan.

Red-hot hitter Matt Daniels went 3-for-4, Scott Halecki added two hits, Danny Hansbury reached base three straight times and scored three runs.

Mike Sullivan and Scott Eggert added singles while Sullivan, Mike Daley and John Shea scored twice each.

Matt Daniels played another excellent game defensively at catcher.

Marinaro Paces Andover Entry In Northeast League

By Rick Harrison

A pair of strong pitching performances by big righthander Joe Marinaro powered the Andover entry in the Northeast Baseball League to three victories in four starts last week.

Marinaro tossed a brace of four-hitters in victories over Tewksbury (2-1) and Wilmington (5-1), while the locals also outlasted Dracut, 10-8, and dropped a 7-1 decision to perennial Northeast power Chelmsford.

Marinaro's opening four-hitter came against Tewksbury, a game in which Andover managed just three safeties itself.

Tewksbury pushed across an unearned run in the bottom of the first, but the winning runs came on a clutch two-out, two-run single by Jeff Hurley in the top of the third.

Dave Blank added a pair of singles to the attack, and defensive standouts were shortstop Peter Reming, catcher Brett Hammond and centerfielder Blank.

Marinaro also struck out six.

In the 5-1 win over Wilmington, Marinaro struck out 14 to lift his two-game total to 20.

He also sparked the offense with a two-run double, while single were contributed by Albie Minichiello, Mike Henry and Todd Allard.

Dave Carriere was a defensive standout at catcher.

Lefthander Dave Blank hurled four strong innings against Chelmsford, holding the visitors to one run.

But he had also pitched Legion ball a day earlier and could only throw the four innings or Northeast. The relievers were unable to hold Chelmsford.

Peter Reming's single was the only basehit for Andover, and the sole run came in the bottom of the seventh when Dana Orlando walked, stole second, took third on an infield out and crossed on a wild pitch.

A seven-run first inning pushed Andover out to a healthy lead, but they needed almost all those runs as Dracut rallied for four in the fifth and three runs in the sixth.

Joe Marinaro's two-run double helped highlight the first-inning outburst.

In the Andover second Todd Allard singled, Chris Eggert singled, Marinaro walked to load the bases, and P.J. Johnson hoisted a sacrifice fly.

Eggert singled and crossed when Marinaro's outfield fly was dropped for a two-base error in the fourth.

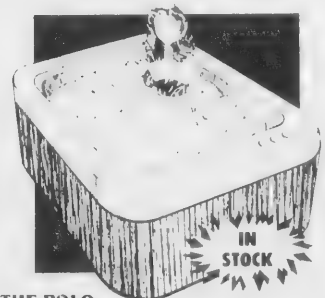

In the fifth Dana Orlando walked, stole second, took third on an infield out, and scored on Albie Minichiello's suicide squeeze bunt.

Chris Eggert went four innings on the mound to register the victory. Dana Orlando, Todd Allard and Joe Marinaro finished up for the winners.

Eggert went 2-for-2, Minichiello added a double, and Scott Bernard singled and played a stole defensive game at catcher.

Andover Blue Starts Fast

The Andover Blue Pony League team is off to a fast 2-0 start, continuing the winning ways that earned them last year's Pony League championship.

Andover defeated the Reading Y's Men 6-1. The Blue jumped on top in the first inning when Bob Sheehan was hit by a pitch, Gus Quattlebaum singled, Steve Ahephard doubled and two fielding errors produced four runs. Andover scored single runs in the third inning on base hits by Justin Hesenius and Brian Novelline and in the fourth on base hits by Sheehan and Hesenius.

Roby Guzowski, Paul Allard, Chris Sintros and Kevin Murphy played in their first Pony League game. Chris Lembo, who has been unable to play the past two seasons due to injuries, had his first Pony League hit, a double. Bob Sheehan filled in for starting catcher Ben Russell who is out with an injury.

Justin Hesenius was the winning pitcher, throwing a three hitter and striking out ten batters in six innings. Kevin Murphy finished the seventh inning, setting the side down in order.

Hesenius (two hits) and Quattlebaum and Shepard (two RBIs apiece) were the batting stars.

In their second outing Blue beat the Reading Astros 1-0. Andover managed only four base hits by Sheehan, Matt Harris, Hesenius and Josh Nelkin, but kept Reading off the scoreboard with error-free defense. Blue scored its only run in the sixth inning as Chris Lembo's sacrifice fly scored Matt Harris who had singled. Pitcher Kevin Murphy notched his first Pony League victory, spacing seven hits and walking only two.

were bloop singles.

Saugus inched ahead 1-0 in the first, but Post 8 responded with three runs in the bottom of the second.

Chris Eggert, who had been sidelined with a foot injury, returned to the lineup and rapped a single. Joe Iarrobino sacrificed him to second, Sean Gill singled him to third, and Curt Soloman lofted a sacrifice fly.

Russell and Dave Blank (infield) loaded the bases with successive singles, and Joe Lyons put Andover ahead with a two-run single.

Saugus bounced back with a pair of runs in the fourth to tie it, 3-3, setting the stage for a two-run Andover fifth.

The winners did all their damage without benefit of a basehit, putting two in scoring position on walks to Blank and Lyons and a perfect sacrifice bunt from Keith Abernathy.

Steve Howes then hoisted his long sacrifice fly to leftfield, rescuing Blank, and a wild pitch enabled Lyons to cross with the insurance run.

Blank, Sean Gill and Curt Soloman led the Andover offense with two safeties apiece.

Defensively, Dave Blank ran down three balls in centerfield, Joe Iarrobino and first baseman Eggert collaborated on a nice doubleplay, and Abernathy was sharp at catcher.

Box Office Video is a friendly, locally owned video store. It is located in an historic house built circa 1825 that was once owned by Mr. Punchard. The public is welcome to come in and browse, not only to select some of the well displayed videos, but also to enjoy the cozy layout of this home. Owners Mickey and Joyce Connor are both Andover natives. Mickey is an Andover firefighter.

Videos are conveniently displayed by categories: action and adventure, drama, comedy, horror, children's, science fiction, oldies but goodies and sports. They carry all the new releases. If a video is out they will put a request on their reserve list and call when it is available. Box Office Video Plus both rents and sells videos and is happy to order a specific cassette for the customer. A huge selection of Nintendos are carried, including the newest on the market.

They offer specials on Mondays and Tuesdays and cassettes taken out on Saturday need not be returned until Monday. For the convenience of their customers, a drop box is available for returning videos. Box Office offers all this plus free membership!

Mickey and Joyce Connor will celebrate their store's first anniversary in August. ready for a summer full of books from Memorial Hall Library.

He credits his mother with getting him interested in reading. And Ms. Skaliotis added that Joel's career goal up until age 7 was to work at the Library of Congress. Now, Joel says, he wants to be a LEGO engineer, referring to the popular children's blocks.

In the meantime, though, he will consider a position at the Andover library, he said.

Down The Years

50 Years Ago — June 1939

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Batcheller and sons, Robert and Burton, are enjoying the week at Barnstable on the Cape.

Miss Winifred Bryant has returned to her home in Somerville after visiting her cousin, Janet Carter of Lowell St.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Lewis of Mansfield City, Conn., visited with the former's parents on Sunday.

Robert Scobie and William Thompson recently enjoyed a trip through the White Mountains and excellent fishing in Echo Lake.

Mrs. Herbert Carter and son Thomas are spending the remainder of the week at Barstable.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mosher and son of Ayer street attended the Mosher family reunion held at Ipswich on Friday.

Miss Etta Ford and Miss Lois Stevens of Durham, N.H. are visiting at the home of their friend Miss Virginia Stevens of High Plain road.

25 Years Ago — June 1964

Using colored slides to illustrate the contrasts, Planning Board Chairman Harold King has urged the Selectmen to refuse another gravel pit in the Argilla Road area.

Speaking for the Planning Board, Mr. King spoke despairingly of efforts to keep pits looking good, or in controlling truck speeds and spillage.

His pronouncement of Planning Board policy came during a hearing on Sidney P. White's request for a permit to remove gravel from an area bounded by Argilla Road, Andover Street, and Blood Road.

10 Years Ago — June 1979

A fiscal policy which spells out how the school budget will be prepared and presented to town meeting was considered by the school committee last Tuesday.

The policy, presented in rough draft, does not provide for any dramatic changes in the way things are already done, but is does set down in writing what the budget will include.

When town meeting is asked to approve the school budget, it will still see only two line items, salary and total expenses, but additional information will be provided in the FinCom report.

That report will contain five specific pieces of information: enrollment by academic level, total number of full-time teachers, equivalents at each academic level, per pupil cost, expenses by line item as listed on state reports, and budgeted expenses by line item.

Pomps Pond

After waiting for half a year, the town decided that, because it is important to get started on the study as soon as possible, it would arrange to use Andover's portion of the funds to begin the job and work out the remaining state funds as the study progresses. Soon these arrangements will be made and a consultant hired so the initial phases of the work can begin.

There have been several smaller and incomplete studies in the past, and the town has implemented some recommendations from them. Several dikes were built so the Shawsheen River would not flow through Pomps Pond during times of high water. The dikes also raised the water level in the pond and flooded the adjoining marsh.

After the new comprehensive study is complete, it will be clear what further steps will benefit the pond. The objective is to have an even better town swimming place and make sure this natural area remains beautiful and enjoyable in the years ahead.

Returns

Marine Lance Cpl. Jorge J. Torres Guzman, a 1985 graduate of Greater Lawrence Technical High School of Andover, recently returned with Marine Corps Security Force Battalion, Vallejo, Calif., from a deployment to Bremerton, Wash.

He assisted in providing special guard and reaction forces in support of Pacific Fleet operations.

Cpl. Torres Guzman joined the Marine Corps in April 1987.

Andover, Kan.

three miles to the west.

Mrs. Malcom said a longtime resident claimed that Cloud City's name got changed because Mr. Cloud wanted it named after his hometown. And Mr. Cloud happened to be from Andover, Mass.

Mrs. Malcom's 10-member committee is dedicated to improving the image of Andover (Kansas, that is), and she wants to see if Andover (Massachusetts) is interested in being its sister city.

As sister cities, the two Andovers would "make contact with another," Mrs. Malcom said. "One person suggested we might do a bicycle race," she added.

The Malcoms, who arrived in the Bay State Friday afternoon by car, said they were delighted by Andover, Mass. "I have taken so many pictures," Mrs. Malcom said. "We're really, really impressed. We like the architecture."

The Malcoms' house back in Kansas is Cape Cod style, added Mr. Malcom, a real estate agent.

Andover, Mass., is older than its

Charles and Alverna Malcom

Kansas counterpart by about 230 years and bigger by about 23,000 people.

But there are parallels. Andover, Kan., is below a North Andover, of course, and not too far from Haverhill. Newton, Adams and Arlington are a drive away; Kansas even has a Bunker Hill.

Although the biggest industries in Andover, Kan., are Boeing, Cessna and Beech aircraft manufacturing plants, there is a Raytheon plant there.

Mr. Malcom said another likeness between the two towns, which are about 1,500 miles apart, is the quality of the schools. "They ought to be good; we pay high taxes," he said.

Andover, Kan., is not the same as it was when the Malcoms were married 40 years ago. "A shopping center was opened last year and another is being completed in phases," said an issue of their hometown paper, The Andover Journal. "Fast food restaurants and convenience stores have sprung up as have new financial institutions and medical offices."

A lot of new faces are moving in too, Mr. Malcom said. "I used to know everybody in town," he said. "Now I feel like I'm the stranger."

The two towns "have a lot of similarities," he said, "only you got trees."

But his wife's working on that one. As a member of the town's beautification committee, she's seeing to it that Andover, Kan., gets some more trees.

SHED Meeting

"At one point you (the School Committee) asked for our trust; the trust isn't there anymore," said abutter MaryJo Hughes at the committee meeting.

Committee Chairman Margo Tilghman told the neighbors she hoped the vote to table action on the agreement until the town manager met with them would help to re-establish credibility.

Since then Mr. Mahony has met with committee member Michael Frishman and received a revised contract that all parties agreed upon. At that meeting a message from the School Committee was delivered to the town manager urging him to meet with the neighbors, said Mr. Frishman.

Following the meeting Mr. Mahony has taken steps to set a date for members of his department to meet with interested parties concerning the landscaping and appearance of the SHED classroom. Scheduling conflicts have prevented a date to be set, but, Mr. Mahony said, a meeting will take place shortly.
